Chancellor Helps Students Clean up Donaldson Commons for Year End Dance

ASMSUN came to Chancellor Kegel last week to see if it would be possible to clean up Donaldson Hall enough to hold an end of the year dance in the commons. After reviewing the facility, and determining what they needed to do to clean the place up, he gave them the green light to start making plans for their first annual Bowtie Dance. He even took a few minutes out of his very busy schedule to help Student Senate clean out Donaldson Commons. For more details about this event, see the Bowtie Ball blurb in the upcoming events section of the NNN.

Students Celebrate Frog Week

MSU-Northern's 2017 Zoology class has spent the last week studying frogs. Some students might have found that exercise boring but this group of students got so excited they went out and purchased custom T-shirts branding the event "Frog Fest: 4-day Extravaganza". They decided to forgo shark week for frog week because it was "half as dangerous and twice the fun." Check it out on Facebook:

A Northern Technology Snapshot

By Thomas M. Welch - Agricultural Technology Educator at MSU-Northern

Greytak Calendar - A Northern Connection

In 1991, I met with Havre pencil artist Don Greytak and asked him if he would be interested in putting copies of his artwork into my idea of an agriculture calendar. At that time, I was a member of the Montana Aggies, a newly formed group that was interested in promoting the future of Montana agriculture. Don said he thought a calendar would be a good project and agreed to provide some of his pieces. The Montana Aggies joined with the Montana 4-H Foundation on this inaugural project. I remember going to our then Northern Foundation Director Tom Reynolds and asking him if we could borrow some money to help with the first printing of the 1992 calendars. That money helped the Montana 4-H Foundation and the Montana Aggies print the first edition. 4-H members throughout Montana and our Northern PAS

Club sold the 1992 Montana agriculture calendars for $10.00. A portion of the proceeds stayed with the 4-H clubs and our PAS Club and some went to the 4-H Foundation and Aggies.

I used a software program to design the first calendar and collected and placed Montana agricultural events and their dates in each month. I digitized the outline of our state with a digitizing tablet by tracing over a Montana road map. This Montana border has been on the cover of most of the calendars and is still being used. I eventually quit doing the calendar layout and it has since been put together by the Montana 4-H Foundation. This has been an amazing project with an outstanding artist and continues to benefit 4-H youth throughout Montana. Calendars continue to be sold each year by Montana 4-H members and the price has remained the same. What is most astounding is that Havre artist Don Greytak has created and provided 338 different pieces of his artwork for the covers and months of 26 years of these calendars!

Windows 10 Snap Assist

Window-snapping is a convenient feature for quickly maximizing your screen's real estate. The feature, first introduced in Windows 7, lets you "snap" a window to one side of your screen without having to move it around and resize it manually.

In Windows 10, Microsoft has improved the snap feature to include more options. You can now snap windows so they take up the full half or just a quarter of the screen, and a handy little Snap Assist tool lets you snap windows even more quickly than before.

To snap a window using your mouse, click its title bar and drag it to the edge of your screen. An outline will appear to show you where the window will snap to once you drop it. You can drag & snap windows to the left or right side of your screen. You can also drag them to a corner to snap it to the corresponding quadrant, or drag it to the top of your screen to get a full-size window.

You can also snap windows using keyboard shortcuts. To snap a window with the keyboard, select the window you want to snap and press the Windows key and the Left Arrow, or the Windows key and the Right Arrow to snap that window to the left or right side of your screen. If you want to snap it into one of the quadrants, first snap it to the left or right side of the screen and then press the Windows key and Up Arrow or the Windows key and the Down Arrow to get it into the top or bottom corner.

If you snap a window with the mouse or the keyboard and you're left with a partially empty screen, the Windows 10's Snap Assist feature will pop up. If you have any other open windows, Snap Assist will bring them up as thumbnails in the empty portion of your screen. All you have to do is click on a thumbnail, and that window will open in the open half (or quarter) of your screen.
