MSU-Northern's Greenhouse Now Open for Classroom Use

The first week of the fall 2018 semester saw the initial use of the MSU-Northern Teaching Greenhouse classroom. After several years of construction, as well as climate control and growing equipment acquisition, the Greenhouse is now ready for classroom use. Botany course (BIOB 220/221) is the first course to use the facility.

Student Spotlight: Michael Momberg Enjoyed a Co-op at Frontline Ag

At a young age, Mike Momberg learned the value of hard work. He grew up on a ranch – caring for horses, cattle, and machinery. After working with his uncle, he discovered a passion for diesel technology, and he decided to learn the trade. For him, it made sense to choose MSU-Northern as his educational base. Northern offered a hands-on learning environment and the most reputable programs in the subjects that mattered to him. Since his arrival on campus, he has learned from qualified instructors who have given him a strong foundation of knowledge and skill. Mike used that knowledge in his co-op experience.

Lights Football Program Impacts Montana's High School Football Programs

A standing tradition at schools across the country is Homecoming and here at Northern it is no different, as we will be celebrating Homecoming next week. Along with this year's Homecoming is the 20th anniversary of the reinstatement of football at Northern.

Next week, I would like to highlight former Northern Light football players and coaches on what they are doing, especially those who are currently coaching football.
