RE: Newspaper Practicum II

Like Newspaper Practicum I, this course would emphasize individualized projects and learning objectives. Learning at this level should, of course, build on learning acquired at the entry level, and in arranging projects, instructors should be able to say no to a student whose 300 level project had no connection to the same student's 100 level work (say photography at the 300 level following reporting at the 100 level). For that reason, I suggest insertion of phrasing such as "building on skills acquired by the student in Newspaper Practicum I" at the end of the second sentence.

Gregg Hester
James Edwards.
